To do this you must compete and forward this Application for External Appeal to the attention of the Chair of this Community Futures organization. The following are some of the questions, and answers, concerning this second and final level of formal appeal.

How much time do I have to submit my Application for Formal Appeal – External Review?

You have 10 business days from the date of the Internal Review to appeal, in writing, to the External Review panel.

What can I appeal to the External Review panel?

In all cases, decisions made by Staff, Management or Committees of the organization must first undergo The first level of Formal Appeal — The Internal Review (see Step 2). If you are not satisfied with the decision of the Internal Review, then you can appeal that decision to the External Review panel. Only decisions confirmed by the Internal Review process can be appealed to the External Review panel.

Who are the External Appeal panel members?

In Alberta, there are 27 Community Futures organizations. Each organization operates as independent corporations. Each is governed and directed by a volunteer board of directors.

The External Review Panel is made up of one (1) volunteer board member appointed from each of the independent Community Futures organizations in the region. Each Panel is comprised of a minimum of six (6) members. The Executive Director of the provincial Community Futures Association services as Executive Secretary to the External Review panel, but is not involved in decision making.

The Panel member appointed by this Community Futures organization will not participate in any discussion or vote on any matter related to your Application for External Appeal.

When will I receive notification from the External Review panel about my appeal?

The Executive Secretary of the External Review panel will advise the Chair of this Community Futures organization when the panel has completed its review of the Application for External Appeal. The panel's review, communication to the Board Chair and the Board Chair's communication to you, the Applicant, will be completed within 15 business days from the date your Application for External Review with all required support information is received by this Community Futures organization.

Who has final authority for all decisions?

The Board of this Community Futures organization supports these decision review and appeal processes.
